Commodore's Report

Hi Folks,

Opening Day is upon us and things are going according to plan. Linda and Julie and their team are all putting it together like only PMYC can do. Carol Butte's car was in my shop yesterday, and full of decorations! Thanks to all of you. Clean up day is scheduled for March 13. It's important to show up and help – even if you only have an hour or two. This is the big clean-up and we need lot's done. . There is a sign up sheet at the club. Thanks to Karl Lindblom who has stepped up and offered to varnish bar stuff and outside rails It's that kind of member that makes PMYC the great club that it is.

The Valentine's Party was an overwhelming success. We had about 85 people, the band was good, the food was INCREDIBLE! Gonzo, Kim, Eric and Jose together with spouses did an excellent job. Jose spent hours trimming meat, Gonzo and Eric peeled and mashed 9 million potatoes (little ones as Gonzo points out). Carol led the decorating party, and it was great. Thanks to everyone who helped.

SMBYC has requested that we pass along to our membership that Opening Days at other clubs be kept to invited guests only. If you do find yourself at another club's opening day, and you are not an Officer, please keep in mind that they plan on "x" amount of people. Please do not take up chairs that are planned for the invitees. That is just plain good manners. Thanks.

Friday Night Dinners are still going great. There will be no Friday night dinner on the 19th (Friday before Opening Day)

We are having a speaker at our next General Meeting. Once again, we will offer dinner. First come, first serves, no charge to members. The date is March 9th. Dinner will be served about 6:30 with the meeting beginning at 7:30. The speaker will begin following a short meeting. He is an ecologist that is employed by the County of L.A. for the Marina area. He is in charge of the UCLA research vessel and other programs that the public may participate in. It sounds like it may be more interesting than you would think! In April, Barinicle Bill will be our guest speaker. He will talk about preparation before a haul-out, ways of saving money in the yard, the best bottom paints to use, etc. This should be of interest to all our members with boats. We all have to haul-out once in a while. If you have any ideas for future speakers, please let me know.

See you around the club,

Bill Cavaness
Commodore

Vice Commodore's Report

Spring time is upon us again and this means Opening Day. Please remember this is a do it yourself yacht club and please sign up for clean up day on March 13th and help the club out. Cooking day is March 20th, so any cooks in the kitchen are needed.

I want to thank and congratulate Kim LeVern and Bob Gonzales for putting on an excellent Valentine's party. Also props to new members Eric and Marina Uhe and friends Jose and Isabella for being the excellent chefs.

Port Captain's Report

Greetings from the Port Captain. Hopefully before too long the monsoons will be gone, the temperatures will rise and we can get back to the serious business of having fun boating and sailing. At least the halibut are now biting for some people.

I still need to hear from you who have boats and things on the dinghy dock. I need to identify who has what, and determine what must go away. Clean up day and opening day are nearly upon us, so please get your volunteer hats on the step up.

Cheers and Happy Boating
Jim Dalby

Smokey's Corner

The Super Bowl bash was quite a feast even though luck was not with me in the pool. But hey, there's always next year. And I'm totally not buying that story about the halftime show wardrobe malfunction...my mama didn't raise no dummy.

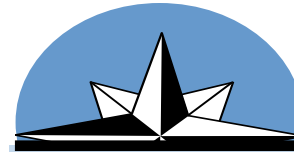

The next big function was The Valentine's Day Party that featured more red than the planet Mars. Sweethearts danced cheek to cheek, purring in each other's ear and ladies modeled their latest trinkets. Love was definitely in the air.

Be sure to make your way over to PMYC for the Friday night dinners. This is one night that I hold off on my Friskies. We've had tempting delights such as filet mignon, prime rib, Italian sausage soup, spaghetti, chicken & ribs and pozole. I guarantee you won't go home hungry.

Hot off the presses...word has it from my feline and canine friends that a deceased (not naturally fallen) sheep was spotted recently on Randy's fuel dock. It appeared there under very mysterious circumstances prompting a bizarre skinning ritual that took place between two Samurai warrior types and the poor woolly creature. If the usual suspects I know had anything to do with it...well, you know what they say about wolves in sheep's clothing. Heard it eventually ended up in Randy's cooler.

Speaking of animals in strange places, roosters and lions have suddenly showed up at the Club. The roosters have a way of disappearing though. Maybe they're on ice too. Sounds like good material for a Sopranos' episode. Stay alert and be safe!

Your friend, Smokey.

Mr. Rooster's Roost

The Tale O' The C.... Two Roosters

I must warn all readers. This is truly one of those "Guess you had to be there tales" At the end of a road trip, Bob and Scott brought back a 'Mr. Rooster'. At first I thought it was a 'gift' for me. Come to find out if was destined for Scott's yard. He spent his first few days proudly over viewing the newly revamped bar area. Somehow, someone lifted Mr. Rooster. A investigation was immediately launched, tapes reviewed, locals questioned, etc. But life goes on..... So now it's Super Bowl Sunday with the Hookers and Hikers. Needless to say there were way more Hookers than Hikers. The winning boat of the day was Celebration with 4 very nice Halibutts. As in bottom fishing you never know WHAT you will reel up. Well MR. Rooster surfaced. Seems he was nesting in the back room. He was proudly returned to his spot over the bar. So it is now the 2nd quarter of the Super Bowl and in walks Gonzo with yet another 'Mr. Rooster'. Now we have dueling.....Roosters. Are you getting all this? It seems that after Half-time.... with all it's excitement, that every one wanted their picture with Mr. Rooster. One person wanted one so much that the Roosters tail fell off in all the excitement. (That person is now crossed off a few date lists)

Once properly super glued back together, both Mr. Roosters were perched back at their posts.

Rooster update.....Valentines Day (Did I mention that Valentines day is my favorite day, I know everyone at the party knew it.) has come and gone. So have the roosters, numerous times. They have been sited chilling in the freezer and sunning on the side deck. Boy do those.....Roosters get around.

More Mr. Rooster updates to come. Or come by the club for a cocktale and get some of the details that just couldn't be put into this tail of two roosters..
